THIRTY-EIGHTH YEAR No. 17

THIS IS NOMINATION TIME IN BIG AUTO CIRCULATION CAMPAIGN

Sea Coast Echo Invites You To Take Part In This Big Affair Which Is Just Opening—Two Automobiles Absolutely Free—Everybody Wins.

Where are all the live wires? Who wants these two fine new Motor Cars that the Sea Coast Echo will give away? Here is your opportunity to turn your spare moments into cash. This newspaper wants more circulation and is willing to pay you as you never dreamed of being paid before if you will give your spare time to this movement during the next five weeks. The campaign is short and snappy and what is to be done must be done now. You must make up your mind now that you are going to have one of these cars. You must start. While the first announcement of this big affair was made last week nothing of consequence has been done. One or two candidates have taken a few subscriptions that's all. If you are thinking of entering the campaign you have plenty of time but you must do it now. The time is short. The campaign will be over before you know it. Only five short weeks and somebody will be riding in these new cars. You may as well be driving one of them. Fill out the coupon on another page of this paper and see that it gets to the Campaign office without delay. Do it NOW.

This is the Nomination time. This is the week when those who intend to take part in the campaign should make their intentions known. Up to the present time a few suggestions have been made and some have inquired for details but about all that could be done by the Echo is to prepare for the opening. Now, with office details out of the way, we are ready to receive nominations. There are those who plan to enter the campaign who have been waiting to see if some one else were going in. That some one else that you are waiting for is doing the same thing you are—just waiting day after day—and that some one else will enter it later. The time to enter is at the start—NOW.

To go into this campaign and go through it means but one thing—it means that you will come out a winner. You will either win one of the automobiles, a prize or be paid a commission. You can't lose. Everybody can look back over their lives and see opportunities lost. They can see where if they had acted at the proper moment they would have been ahead in the world today. So it is with this campaign. When it is half over there will be those who will wish they had started at the beginning. Certainly it is true that you may start a week later and still win but it will be much easier for those who start NOW. It should not take much insisting to give away two fine new automobiles and other prizes. The prize list seems so big and valuable to some that they can scarcely believe it. Yet it is all a fact and the prizes are being distributed to your friends you may wonder then how it ever happened that you were not ever sighted enough to be one of the fortunate ones. The important item is to make the start. You can win in this campaign if you will. The plan is such that you cannot lose. It is the most liberal offer ever made by a newspaper in this section of the state. And all offered for your spare time just to assist the Echo in increasing its number of readers.

Just a little effort is all that is required. The most important thing of all is making the start. Let the Echo know without delay that you are in the game. A Chevrolet Sedan heads the prize list. Other prizes are a Ford Sedan, a Diamond Ring and cash. There should be at least enough entries to take up the prize list. Who wants these prizes anyway? It matters not whether you live in Bay St. Louis or a hundred miles away. Everybody has an equal chance. The wise thing to do is to start NOW and pile up a vote before someone else gets in. The early bird usually catches the worm. This is an opportunity for AMBITIOUS PEOPLE. It is an opportunity for people who want to make money quickly. Think it over, but don't think it over too long. Some of these days the nomination period is going to be over. Make up your mind that you are going to break away from the usual routine and do something really worth while for yourself. Get in the game. Fill out the nomination blank. Nominate yourself or a friend. See Mr. Metsker for full and complete details. The campaign is now open for entries. Campaign office is located upstairs over the Echo office. Telephone 402.

C. MILLER DISCHARG'D AT TRIAL

Son of Deputy Sheriff Is Exonerated in Death of Negro In Auto Collision.

Carl Miller, son of Deputy Sheriff Lemuel Miller, who was given a hearing Tuesday before Justice of the Peace Frank Gutierrez, held in the death of Romain Vontour, 28-year-old Bay St. Louis negro, who died in an automobile collision Friday morning, was exonerated of the death and discharged, witnesses of the fatal accident testifying in Miller's favor.

The trial grew out of a fatal auto accident Friday morning just before 10 o'clock, when the ice delivery truck driven by Vontour and a truck loaded with lumber driven by Miller collided at the intersection of second and St. George streets. It is understood that as the trucks collided Vontour was thrown from the truck to the pavement dying instantly.

Young Miller rushed to the county jail to Sheriff J. C. Jones, who was preparing to hang Silas Richardson and gave himself up, creating much excitement when he declared he had just killed a negro. He was held in custody pending the trial at which he was released.

The negro who was killed belongs to a well thought of local colored family. He was employed by a local ice company.

WESTON MILL WILL REOPEN AT LOGTOWN WITH 7-MONTHS CUT

Purchase of Lumber on 10,000 Acres of Land in Pearl River County by H. Weston Lumber Company from Batson and Hatten Company Effective.

The large lumber mill at Logtown owned by the H. Weston Lumber Company, will reopen soon, Horatio S. Weston, president of the company announced this week. This mill, which for a number of years had been operating was closed down last year because of the exhaustion of lumber supply.

The Weston company has acquired 10,000 acres of land from the Batson and Hatten Lumber Company of Lyman, the land lying in Pearl River county. The land acquired by the Weston company is said to be only a part of the lands owned by the Batson and Hatten company, and only a fractional part of their large holdings in South Mississippi.

The lumber from the newly acquired land will serve the Logtown mill for about a seven months' cut, Mr. Weston said.

It is understood that the reopening of the mill will not only give employment to a large force of workers but will reopen barge service from Logtown to Gulfport, with large quantities of lumber which will be shipped by steamer from Gulfport harbor to the lumber markets of the world.

NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK MAY 5 TO 11

Schubert Music Club Will Foster Observance Here—Program Tuesday Night

National Music Week, observed throughout the United States for the sixth season, will be held May 5 to 11, and Bay St. Louis will have a city wide observance, the Schubert Music Club taking the initiative and sponsoring this movement. Under the direction of Mrs. H. U. Canty, chairman of the program committee of the club, a program representing the schools of the city and the club, will be presented at the Central high school auditorium Tuesday night, May 7, 8 o'clock, to which the public is cordially invited and for which there will be no charge.

The program to be given follows: Chorus, Hark to the Mandolin and Kiss Me Again, Schubert Club. Piano solo, Miss Loretta Smith Quartet, from Highb School Glee Club. Reading, Miss Genevieve Green. Vocal Solo, Mrs. Orrie M. Pollard. Piano Duet, Misses Donna Mae and Lorraine Quintini.

Vocal Solo, Mrs. H. U. Canty. Stanislau College Orchestra playing selections from Bohemian Girl and Little Corporal March.

Vocal Solo, In the Garden of My Heart, Stanley Reyes. Piano Duet, Unfinished Symphony by Schubert, played by Miss Atkins and Miss Mary Alice Hawkins.

Chorus, Waters of Minnetonka and Indian Love Call, Schubert Club.

Purpose of Music Week. The purpose of Music Week observance is seen in the suggestion, "Hear Music—Make Music—Enjoy Music." Those who can produce music or who have radios are asked to form music parties during the week and share their music with their friends. Church choirs are asked to observe special music programs. Schools are urged to join in Music Week programs.

In explanation of Music Week C. M. Tremaine, secretary of the National committee, said: "The dominant note of National Music Week this year, will be the urging of participation in the fullest sense of the word—that is, by singing and playing as well as by hearing music. To hear Music, Make Music, Enjoy Music is a trine participation, in which possibly the greatest factor is the making of music, because it not only gives self-impression in itself but adds to the capacity of the performer for understanding the music that he hears, and hence it greatly increases his enjoyment in listening. There has been much mention of a merely passive hearing of music. In my opinion this is a contradiction in terms, for no one can really hear all that there is in music unless he meets it half-way by making an active effort to understand it.

"In emphasizing this phase for Music Week this year, we are following out a policy pursued since the week was first organized on a national scale. Each year we have singled out for special attention one element vital to the fulfillment of the complete idea underlying the Music Week. For instance, last year we

DONOVAN SPECIAL, MYSTERY PLAY, HERE SUNDAY & MONDAY

A. & G. Theatre Presents Thrilling Story of Thrills, Chills and Laughs

Columbia's initial all-talking special, "The Donovan Affair," based on Owen Davis's Broadway hit, will be shown at the A. & G. Theatre, Sunday and Monday.

Following its pre-view on the Coast "The Donovan Affair" was acclaimed a mystery thriller of the first water. Jimmy Starr, motion picture editor of The Los Angeles Record says:

"It isn't often that one can be completely thrilled by a feature which is supposed to be both chill and tickle the funny-bone. 'The Donovan Affair' is another knockout for Columbia." Bill Furman in Motion Picture News pays a neat compliment to "The Donovan Affair" in these terms: "For sustained interest and belt line laughs, this is easily one of the best talkers of the season. The picture should be an exceptional box-office draw. It is well worth seeing two or three times. It's packed with laughs throughout, clean comedy and a thriller of the first water."

The story holds interest that never lags for a moment, and the production reflects genuine credit on Columbia and upon Frank Capra, the director. Jack Holt and Dorothy Revier have the leading roles and their performances are excellent. The entire supporting cast is strong. It includes William Collier, Jr., Agnes Ayers, John Roche, F. Wesley, Hank Mann, Virginia Brown Faire, Wheeler Oakman, Ethel Waters, Alphonse Ethier and Edward Hearn.

PLAY AT SCHOOL SUCCESS

Seniors Present Meritorious Production Tuesday Night At Central High

One of the most meritorious plays presented this year at the Central high school was that given Tuesday night by the members of the senior class under the able leadership of the sponsor, Miss Mabel Burns, and both director and members of the cast are to be congratulated upon the excellence of the production. In smoothness of execution, ease of acting and general effect it would do credit to professional work.

An audience that filled the auditorium to capacity greeted the seniors showing their appreciation of the play by the generous applause. The orchestra from St. Stanislaus College played between acts delighting all. The Central high school heartily appreciates the cooperation of the college which makes such pleasant appearances of the college orchestra possible.

It would be difficult to determine the most popular member of the cast but it seems well to call attention to the uproarious comedy role enacted by Lucille de Armas as the maid, the highly amusing characterizations of the country characters, and the charming acting of the leading parts, Norma Gex and Argle Mitchell, while the support given by other members of the cast was excellent.

The story of the play, The High Flyers, revolves around the attempt on the part of Dovey Doyle and Jack Whitney, to appear wealthy and aristocratic when in reality they are children of poor country parents. Friends of these two initiate the supposed aristocratic mothers and the excitement begins when the real parents appear.

The scene of the first and second acts is the reception room at Berkshire College and the college atmosphere was achieved in the stage settings, furniture for which was loaned by the Bay Furniture Company. The first scene of the third act was the same as the first and second acts. The second scene was in the sunparlor the night after the contest. Costumes of all actors were suitable, the college girls wearing particularly attractive modern gowns while the character parts were dressed in keeping with the role.

Members of the cast follows: Dovey Doyle, a high flyer, Norma Gex. Mrs. Doyle, her mother, Yvonne Tremoulet. College Girls: Marie Murray, Lois de Armas. Barbara Bennett, Marguerite Saccardote. Anne Anglin, Ione Canty. Beatrice Denison, Laurin Gex.

The first hanging in twenty years took place in Bay St. Louis at the Hancock County jail Friday morning when Silas Richardson was hanged at 10:15 and at 10:29 was declared dead and was removed from the hangman's knot at 10:35. He was executed as a result of the sentence passed upon him by the circuit court, sustained by the State Supreme court, for the murder August 14 of John Dambrino, whom he shot at the city jail, wounding at the same time Chief of Police Mark Oliver of Bay St. Louis.

A crowd of approximately half a thousand people gathered around the jail before 10 o'clock, but only about 35 consisting of Hancock County officials, physicians, members of the clergy, press representatives and city and county police authorities of neighboring towns were permitted inside the jail corridors where they could witness the execution.

Sheriff J. C. Jones sprang the trap that sent Richardson's body dangling at the end of the rope after Deputy Sheriff Lander Nacaise and Lemuel Miller assisted by Tom Mallini had tied his hands and feet and placed over his head the black cap.

His neck was not broken, physicians said, and his death was produced by strangulation. Dr. C. M. Shipp, county health officer, assisted by Drs. C. L. Horton, N. W. Fountain, D. H. Ward, and W. S. Speer made the examination and pronounced Richardson dead 14 minutes after the trap was sprung. The body was turned over to relatives of the deceased for burial.

Richardson walked to the gallows, unassisted in a calm and calculated manner and the Rev. Leo Fahey, Bay St. Louis Catholic priest performed religious rites after he took his place on the gallows. He had spent nearly the whole of Thursday and large part of Friday morning in company with Rev. Fahey and Rev. John Koehler, Catholic priest of St. Augustine Seminary at Bay St. Louis.

"I am going to a world unknown," I hope God will forgive my sins and save my soul," said the condemned negro as in an almost inaudible tone he breathed his final prayer on the gallows.

Richardson's execution was the first legal hanging in Hancock county in 20 years, the last having been in 1909 a negro, Joseph Douglas. At that time Albert J. Carver was sheriff. Other prisoners in the county jail were taken from their cells and carried to the jail yard under guard a few minutes before the execution of Richardson and were returned after his body was removed.

Dambrino, the victim of a bullet from Richardson's pistol had gone to the city jail at Bay St. Louis on August 14 in company with Police Officer Mark Oliver to obtain from Richardson an automobile key, it was believed he had in his possession and belonging to a car that had been stolen. Richardson resisted the officer's search and opened fire upon him wounding him and killing Dambrino. Following the shooting he escaped and after a man hunt of several weeks in which hundreds of citizens joined with county officers was captured underneath the house of relatives at Bay St. Louis. He was convicted in circuit court, the state supreme court affirmed the conviction and death sentence and later overruled a suggestion of error. An unsuccessful attempt was made Thursday before the hanging by Jackson attorneys for Richardson to get Governor Bilbo to commute his sentence to life imprisonment.

After the body was removed from the rope it was taken in charge by relatives and an undertaker from Gulfport prepared it for burial. The funeral was held in Pearlington.

DAWES AS AMBASSADOR

Former Vice President Charles C. Dawes is the new Ambassador to England. It is doubtful if a better selection could have been made. The Vice Presidency is a good school for diplomacy, as it brings the incumbent into close personal relations with the Diplomatic Corps socially.

Throughout our history our most noted men have been sent on the mission to England, because of the importance of the relationships between England and America. Many, if not most Ambassadors to England have been of Presidential calibre.

Charles G. Dawes, an international as well as a great national figure because of his work on the Dawes commission, possesses personal qualities that will surely make him a popular figure in London. His knowledge of international finance will be a great aid. We wish him all good fortune in his new post.

A SHAMEFUL EXAMPLE

Congress has set the people of the nation a woeful exhibition of disregard for law. No reappointment of the members of the House has taken place since 1910, although the constitution, so often extolled by Congressmen, says that the membership of the House of Representatives shall be assigned to the states in proportion to population every ten years.

Theoretically, certain states have been robbed of representation, although actually little real harm has been done. However, it is a sorry spectacle when the lawmakers of the country disobey the law and shirk their duty.

$150,000,000 FOR WATER

This is a big country. It does things in big ways.

The city of Los Angeles, facing the future, and seeking an adequate water supply, contemplates tapping the Colorado river, 300 miles away, and bringing the water over desert and mountains to the city. It is a ambitious scheme, involving colossal engineering, a stupendous expenditure of more than $150,000,000.

A SUSPICIOUS PUBLIC

Twice a year newspaper publishers are required to print the names of those owning one per cent or more of their stock. This requirement caused the public of Boston to learn that the International Paper Company had acquired one-half interest in two of their daily papers.

The purchasers explained that their interest was acquired as an investment and to "insure a permanent outlet for newsprint," which is the commodity sold to many newspapers throughout the United States by this large corporation. While newspapers had been known to buy or construct paper mills before, it was very unusual for a mill to reserve the process and purchase papers.

Many people in Massachusetts viewed the transaction with suspicion, based on the fact that the International Paper Company is a subsidiary of the International Paper and Power Company, organized recently to capitalize the value of the rivers that pass through the vast forests owned by the former. Recent revelations before a Senate investigating committee of the methods by which the power interests sought to control education and publicity in the interest of their own business made many question the benefit to the public of this purchase.

Public utility corporations have been very busy throughout the United States in recent years seeking to discredit public ownership, operation or control of light, power or traction companies, whether exercised by municipalities or other political subdivisions, and have endeavored to create prejudice against such a course by condemning it as socialistic. Naturally, the control of influential newspapers would contribute to the propagation of such a gospel.

The public is probably wise in viewing with suspicion the control of its news-giving agencies by those who have other interests to serve than that of purely journalism.

FARM LIFE STILL LURES

Marion Talley, world famous, the cynosure of all eyes, the youngest prima donna ever to grace the stage of the great Metropolitan Opera House. Marion Talley, possessed of wealth and fame.

Marion Talley, envied by farm girls, has made a firm decision to take up life on the farm and leave her career behind.

No more for her the glamour of bright lights, first nights, and the applause of the multitude. Of her own accord, she is going with her family to operate a farm for the sake of happiness.

What a wonderful example for all the boys and girls who are on farms and feel that their opportunities are limited thereby. Marion Talley has tasted everything that the city has to offer, and has made her decision in the face of it all.

This strikes us as very significant in view of the decreasing farm population. It shows that the farm still has a definite lure—that always and ever people will be turning to the farm for the sake of health and happiness.

This action of Marion Talley is sure to have a tremendous influence in turning people's attention to the many advantages of life on the farm-lands of America.

CORRECTING A FRAUD.

We are glad that President Hoover, in his message to the special session of Congress, included among the legislative matter requiring attention the passing of some reappointment act.

Our Constitution requires that membership in the national House of Representatives be reappointed after each decennial census. This was done after the 1910 count but four Congresses and two Presidents have been elected since the 1920 census without this mandatory reappointment being carried out.

Eleven states, containing more than 32,000,000 people, have been thus denied the complete representation which they are entitled to, and other states have been enjoying more power in government than they should have retained.

No censure is too severe to be passed upon these Congresses which have entirely failed to perform their constitutional duty. It is a pity that the American people were not sufficiently aroused on this point to make an example of those in power responsible for such a failure. The immediate damage may have been negligible but the precedent, if used in some future date by an autocratic administration, will prove very costly to American liberty and political fairness.

CANS, COOKS AND FARMS.

The housewives of Hancock County, like their sisters everywhere, are great believers in the can-system of meal-making. There seems to be some indefinable lure that goes with puncturing the tin container and dumping the contents in a dish for quick and ready use.

Nor is there anything objectionable in the practice, provided it affords wholesome, tasty and economic provisions. In fact, farmers generally gain from the habit, because otherwise a great market for their fruits and vegetables would be lost.

LET THE WHITE CROSSES STAY

For the past few years the State of Ohio has placed a white cross at the location of an accident on the highways, which resulted in death. The little white markers have been growing in number and the morbid-minded are demanding the discontinuance of the practice.

At one intersection, according to the Philadelphia Public Ledger, there are six of these silent reminders. Seeing them is not pleasant, we admit, but rather than abandon the plan Ohio should carry on, and other states should follow the example. It would mean, we feel sure, more careful driving.

IS SIZE ALL?

Why should every cross-road settlement desire, above almost everything else, to add population before the taking of the census of 1930? Is it because Americans value size above all other attributes that make a community desirable? Or, is there some real advantage that accrues to each town that exceeds a neighbor's population by as much as a hundred?

Thousands paid to see the opening game between the Yankees and the Red Sox. Fifty million Americans that know who the Yankees and the Red Sox are, haven't the faintest idea who Pythagoras and Thales were.

They are just as happy, and Thales and Pythagoras don't care.

Baseball observed that President Hoover was "wild in his pitch," throwing the ball that started Washington's baseball season.

Technicians said that throwing the medicine ball had "mad" the President a little strong on the "wing." "Wing" is baseball language for "arm."

Intelligent baseball men will say to President Hoover, as the artist of old said to the ruler, annoyed at being excelled by him, "God forbid that you should know as much about this as I know."

There is such a thing as knowing too much about baseball.

President Coolidge becomes a director of the New York Life Company in place of the late Ambassador Herrick.

Such a man as Mr. Coolidge could not remain idle. And he could with difficulty find work more useful than life insurance. It inculcates thrift, provides for widows and children.

The United States, producing 4,600 airplanes in 1928, leads in aircraft output.

France in 1928 built only 1440 airplanes. Great Britain sells more airplanes abroad than we do.

France, however, has five times as many fighting planes as we have. Her fighting fleet is so big it makes Great Britain very polite.

France is the real airplane country, no matter what others may manufacture. Britain is catching up. We lag behind, but that will change.

A gentleman of the American Defense Society, who would only accept immigrants as much as possible like the Puritans, keeping out others, says "President Hoover doesn't know as much about immigration as some of us."

Mr. Hoover knows a good deal more about immigration than the American Defense Society knows.

Stuyvesant Fish sues officials that stopped his yacht, looking for liquor, of which he had none. It was a new yacht.

Mr. Fish wants to "protect the rights of yachtmen."

To protect the rights of row boats and other small craft is of ought to be, even more important, in a republic, since there are more of them.

However, republic or no republic, stopping a rich man's yacht seems to create more excitement than breaking into a poor man's house and killing his wife.

STATE TO HAVE OWN BROADCASTING STATION—JACKSON

Ultra-Modern 1000-Watt Station To Be Atop Lamar Life Insurance Company's Building.

Jackson will install a 1,000-watt, high powered and ultra modern broadcasting station. This announcement was made after Chamber of Commerce had approved the plans and upon the purchase by the Lamar Life Insurance Company of the powerful transmitter that can be converted into one of 5,000 watts.

Control of the station will remain in the hands of Mississippians. The Jackson Broadcasting Company, organized by prominent citizens of the city, will have charge of the program and has leased the plant from the Lamar. Arrangements are being made for a hook up with big national chain for progress.

Work is to begin shortly on the transmitter station to be erected 5 miles outside of Jackson. The studio will be in the famous Home office building of the Lamar just across the street from the Governor's mansion.

Call letters are to be designated soon and the station will be known as the Lamar Life Station. The Jackson group of business and professional men who will operate the station have the approval of the Chamber of Commerce, the city officers and of Judge E. O. Sykes, vice chairman of the Federal Radio Commission, who is a resident of the Mississippi capital city.

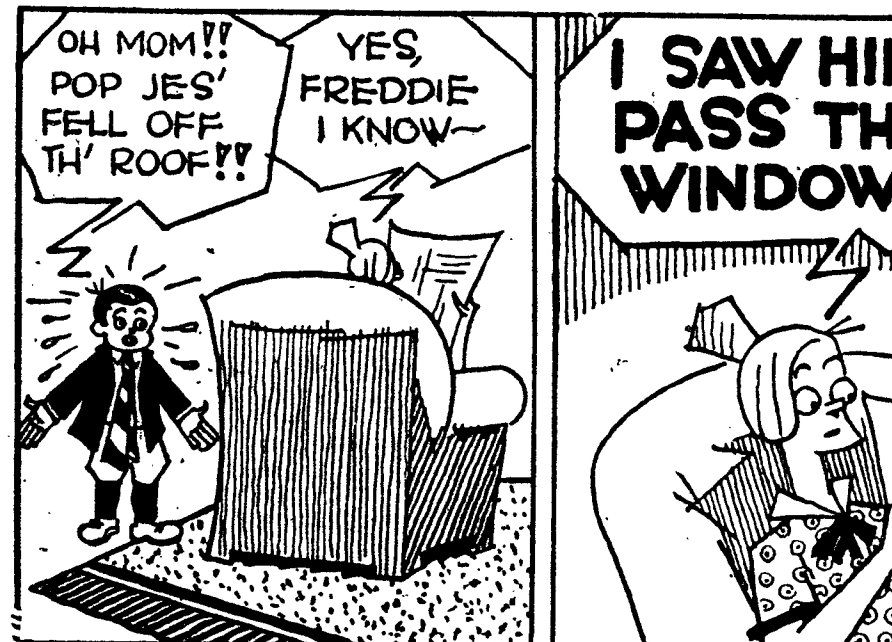

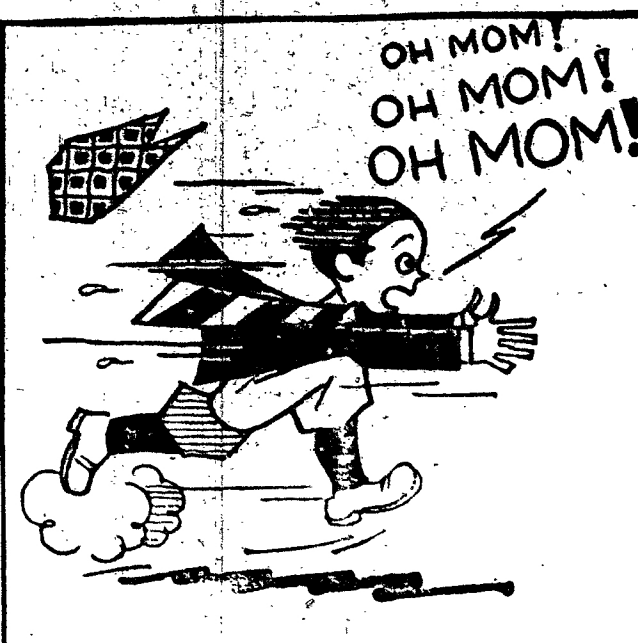

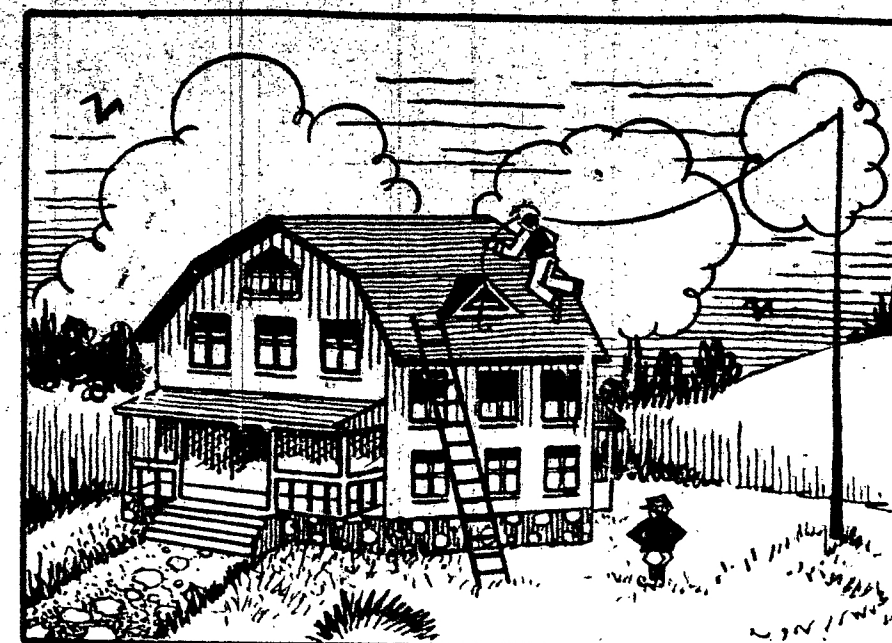

WHAT WE READ IN THE PAPERS

Glancing over a pile of farm papers the other day we found many interesting things. One fellow wrote his favorite journal about a fellow named B. M. Talhart, of Sotora, Tex., who made $10,000.00 from eight hundred goats last year. We did not know there was so much money in goats.

Another statement that was news to us and probably to many of you, is the fact that eggs laid in March, April and May contain white that will whip to a much larger volume than whites from eggs laid in other months of the year. Scientists do not seem to know why spring eggs have this quality, but cakes made during this period may be expected to be larger in size for this reason.

We read where F. H. Isgar, of Jackson county, Mo., got an income of $2,572.80 from six hundred hens after feed costs were taken out.

Another place, we saw where two brothers named Ralph and Dallas Ford, of Alcona County, Mich., bought forty acres of low swampy land at twenty dollars per acre, and sold more than enough small evergreen trees off of it to pay for the land. Using discretion in cutting the trees they have established a Christmas-tree factory that is producing with no overhead expense, except taxes, and will pay handsome profits for several years yet.

Still quoting little stories we read, we find the experiment stations have no corner on new cavities, as J. F.

Markham, Fairfield, Ill., has developed a new variety of peach, two weeks later than Hale, with remarkably small pit. Mr. Markham sold his perfected tree to a nursery for $2,500, and it is now kept enclosed in a wire cage and from it buds will be cut for propagation purposes.

Another tells us about Jesse Throssell, of Vancouver, B. C., who in 1927 raised 70 turkeys from one tom and two hens. He has gained the title of "Turkey King" and in the fall of 1928 had over five hundred birds for market. Six of the turkeys weighed 156 pounds when dressed, the best of the lot weighing 27 pounds.

Your MODEL T FORD is still a good car

THE Model T Ford led the motor industry for twenty years because of its sturdy worth, reliability and economy. Those same reasons continue to make it a good car.

As a matter of fact, nearly one-fourth of all the automobiles in use today are Model T Fords. Millions of them can be driven two, three and even five more years with reasonable care and proper replacements. Figures show that the average life is seven years.

Don't sacrifice your Model T, therefore, but take it to the Ford dealer and have him estimate on the cost of putting it in A1 shape. A very small expenditure may be the means of giving you thousands of miles of additional service.

For a labor charge of $20 to $25 you can have your motor and transmission completely overhauled. This price includes new bearings, reboring cylinders and any other work necessary. Parts are extra.

Valves can be ground and carbon removed for $3 to $4. The cost of tightening all main bearings is only $6. The labor charge for overhauling the front axle is $4.50 to $5—rear axle assembly, $5.75 to $7.

New universal joint will be installed for a labor charge of $3. Brake shoes relined for $1.50. Rear spring and perches rebushed for $1.75. The cost of overhauling the starting motor is $3. A labor charge of approximately $2.50 covers the overhauling of the generator.

It will pay you, therefore, to see your Ford dealer and have him put your Model T in good running order. By doing so you will protect and maintain the investment you have in your car and get months and years of reliable transportation at a very low cost per mile.

SCHUBERT MUSIC CLUB ENTERTAINS

Wonderful Program Gives Pleasure to Many in Annual Spring Concert.

Music lovers and friends of the Schubert Music Club who were permitted to enjoy the wonderful program given by this group of musicians Thursday night of last week at the annual spring concert given in the Masonic Temple, will long remember happily the unusually fine entertainment. Not only was the program beautifully arranged and delightfully rendered but the quality of the music presented and the success of the performance was indicative of the rare talent of the combined clubmembers and the individual musical ability and equipment of the singers.

"The concert was the finest I have ever heard rendered by a musical club," Roy De Valliere, music director of the Southern Civic Opera Company, a guest at the concert, said. "The voices were effective, the numbers excellent and both chorus and solos were highly enjoyable." Praise from such an authority as Mr. De Valliere but substantiates the opinion of local people who know the value of the club from a musical point of view and the artistic merit of the members—appreciating the happiness which they give their friends when they present a program such as that rendered last week.

Miss Evelyn LaCoste as director deserves much credit for the excellent work of the club, while her individual numbers were features of the program. Mrs. Winfield Partridge as club accompanist is a strong factor in the success of the club's singing, giving as she does charming support to the voice work. Mrs. George R. Rea as president of the club, has been vitally interested in the work of the club and under her leadership a successful year has been enjoyed. Each member of the club is to be congratulated upon the ensemble program—a gem in miniature—a bit of perfect melody—a joy of harmonious sound—being some of the comments heard regarding it.

The singing was interspersed with piano numbers by Miss Mary Alice Hawkins, violin solo by Miss Jennie De Benedetto, reading by Miss Genevieve Green, piano solos by Mrs. Winfield Partridge, each adding charm to the program and pleasure to the audience.

Miss Hermie Perkins charmed with her two lovely "Garden" songs, the quality of her voice blending in these songs to bring spring into the room with the roses and fairies of her numbers.

The quartet, composed of Mrs. Harry C. Glover, Mrs. George R. Rea, Miss Margaret Green and Miss Genevieve Green, in their two numbers rendered pleased greatly.

Particularly fine were the solos by Mrs. Orie M. Pollard. She possesses a voice of rare force and power and she sang in splendid form, handling difficult numbers with assurance and success.

Mrs. Herbert Canty in her dainty number presented a voice of great beauty and was warmly applauded. She had proven her operatic ability the preceding night when she sang a role in the Bohemian Girl at Gulfport, and this concert proved her concert appeal.

A great voice is that which Mrs. Harry C. Glover used in her numbers, a voice with an appealing quality that brings visions of loveliness to the heart and mind of those who hear it.

Miss Evelyn LaCoste, a musician of unusual attainments, singing with a voice of depth and quality, charmed with her solos.

The chorus numbers by the club reached even above the highest expectations and showed to advantage the grace of women's voices trained to sing in unison.

The Cantata given as the closing number was a culmination of the fine things which had gone before and a happy finale to a program which left nothing to be desired in the enjoyment given to the friends honored by being guests of the club. The Echo joins its voice with that of the many who heard the concert in expressing thanks to the musicians who so graciously give of their talent, and takes delight in saying: Bay St. Louis is proud of the Schubert Club.

The full program follows:

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

Children of Mary Work With Might and Main.
Oh no, they didn't work! I just wish you could have seen them Saturday on the convent grounds—or at home. What with candy, cake, sandwiches, punch, ice cream, and decorating of tables to boot, there was scarcely time to breathe.

But the gratifying success of the Fair proved an ample reward for all the work and weariness and most of the girls would be willing to start again next week—besides it was all for the gym you see.

Entertainment and Fair a Success.
The program sponsored by the Third and Fourth grades and the little folks of S. J. A. as their share of last Saturday's entertainment and Fair, turned out to be a most pleasing and enjoyable one. The little girls and boys charmed all with their cunning songs and recitations, while the children who took part in the two playlets acquired themselves admirably of their respective parts and showed in many cases real dramatic ability.

The program follows:

In Gay Colors, (Duet) A. and D. Hauser.
Six Little Kittens, (Song) L. B. Faby.
Our Visitor, (Recitation) 1st. Grade.
Rainy Day, (Song) F. Finhold.
The Humming Bird, Piano.

Golden Dandelion, Piano A. Benenutti.
The Sunbeam and the Rose, Piano.

Fairy Dance, Piano D. Fayard.
Baby Bye, (Song) and The Owl and the Pussy Cat, (Song) 2nd Grade.
Dancing Flowers, (Duet) D. and L. Quintini.

Dottie's Dream, (Playlet) 3rd and 4th Grades.
Intermission.

Part II, P. M.
Welcome Pretty Primrose, (Song) 3rd and 4th Grades.
Over the Waves, (Violin and Piano) O. Lince and E. Doggett.
Magic Ring, (Song) 5th and 6th Grades.

Silver Nymphs, (Piano) E. Toker.
The Gulf Coast Baby Show, (Playlet) 3rd and 4th Grades.

"Thanks."
S. J. A. extends hearty thanks to each and every one of its friends and patrons who co-operated so generously and loyally in making last Saturday's entertainment and Fair such a great success. The gym fund as a result has been considerably swelled and after this first big boost must necessarily daily grow apace.

Back to Swimming Again.
The hour's dismissal from class allowed the girls last Monday as a reward for the excellent work done for the Fair Saturday proved a most welcome and enjoyable surprise.

The question for the boarders was how best to make use of that hour—and when Mother gave them permission to go in swimming the glad news circulated like wild fire through the halls and basement. A grand rush made for the wharf each girl anxious to beat the other to the first dip of the season.

The girls have been going in daily since and are having a glorious time. Society.

A charming luncheon bridge was held Monday afternoon in the Louis XV Card Room of S. J. A., by the Phi Beta Kappa Society to the P. B. D. frat and the B. P. A. sorority in honor of the three pledged members of the P. B. K.'s Misses Dorothy Mass, Margaret Larose and Effie Graham Powers.

The room was most charmingly decorated with roses and carnations, the soft pink of the flowers blending harmoniously with the blue and gold brocaded velvet hangings of the delightful room.

The Louis XV. chairs and tables were laid for twelve guests. The hostesses, the four chartered members of the sorority, the Misses Elizabeth Sigler, Virginia Bixby, Emily Weiss, and Agnes Bixby received their guests in the lobby. They were most beautifully gowned in very chic and unusual two piece gowns of dark blue serge and white canvas.

A delicious four course luncheon was served during the three hands of bridge.

Miss Frances Manly was awarded first prize, a dainty imported sewing set, and Mr. Luke Dyess received the booby prize, a pencil set, while Miss Effie Powers got the consolation an S. J. A. pennant.

The invited guests were Alonzo Blaid and Frances Manly, Luke Dyess and Dorothy Cassidy, Joe Daniels and Kate Allingham and the three guests of honor.

We know—Do you?

Tom Bilbeck is the narrator. He is a fat newspaper writer who drives a tumbledown car he calls Grandmother Page. He is in love with Maryella his rival being Jim Cooper. The three are members of an amateur dramatic group. Plans for a play at the Old Soldiers' Home are under way. Grandmother Page has engine trouble while Maryella is out driving with Bilbeck and Cooper, passing in a fast roadster, taunts him. After Maryella has left Bilbeck is able to start his car again.

The amateur players are to give Pygmalion and Galatea at the Old Soldiers' Home. In their version Bilbeck is to act as the statue and Maryella, despite when she discovers his bow legs. Mrs. Hemmingway later flatters Bilbeck and talks to him about the play. Bilbeck puts her hand, only to find a rough hand grasping him by the shoulder and lifting him out of his seat.

Mr. Hemmingway does not belong to the club. He is managing editor of the Daily Mail, and has to work nights too often. But he usually calls for his wife to take her home from the rehearsals.

We stood in the aisle and glared at one another.

"Why, John?" Mrs. Hemmingway interposed. "I wasn't expecting you for quite a while yet."

"I can see that," he retorted, not taking his eyes from my face. "Now all I want to know is who are you," he shouted at me. Take off that mask before I yank it off."

He made a motion toward me with his open hand.

His wife stopped him.

"Don't John! It's Tom Bilbeck. That's his real face."

John Hemmingway's jaw fell. He and I are close friends. We went through all our schooling together, and we belong to the same secret societies. I suppose we have sworn eternal friendship and brotherly love on a dozen occasions. It was partly owing to him that I held down my star job on the newspaper.

"Oh!" he exclaimed, and turned to his wife. "But—"

She had stepped out in the aisle and his eye fell on her costume for the first time. He was speechless—with admiration, I thought.

"What have you got on?" he demanded hoarsely. "Is it anything at all, or have I merely got a speck in my eye?"

"This is my costume for the play," she exclaimed carelessly.

"Your costume?" he repeated, puzzled. "Where is the rest of it?"

"This is all."

"All? What do you represent—a clothespin?"

"No."

Mrs. Hemmingway has the virtue and the fault of literalness.

"I am a Greek boy."

"Not any more," her husband stated firmly. "You can quit right here. I won't have my wife parading around in that kind of a—whatever it is."

"It's a Greek tunic."

"It is not," he declared, looking at it more closely. "It's my best silk sport shirt with the neck cut out and a little embroidery around the tails."

He took me home.

"Oh, John! You don't mean it!" Mrs. Hemmingway was genuinely alarmed now, and feared that he was in earnest.

"This is all for Art."

"I don't care whether it is for Art or for Tom Bilbeck, go, cover 'em up by this time the rest of the company had heard the discussion, which had been conducted in the same tones as those ordinarily used on the bleachers at a baseball game. They gathered around.

to take her home.

The coach came out in front of the curtain to announce that the stage was all set for the third act.

"Everybody on stage," he requested. I did not respond.

"Surely you are not going to go away during a dress rehearsal?" said Jim Cooper.

"I really have to go," I replied, and added bitterly, "I don't make any particular difference. I believe that you will find the dummy more pleasant to some of the members of the cast, and if you use it I'm sure it will save me a lot of trouble."

"Maryella"—Jim turned to her—"can't you say something to make Tom remain? He'll do it for you."

Maryella looked at me with a cold, flashing eye.

"I doubt," she hesitated, "whether anything I could say would have any effect. I imagine that his interest in the rehearsal will cease with Mrs. Hemmingway's departure."

I could scarce believe my ears. How could she be so unreasonable? I turned in my heel and made down the aisle for the front entrance of the theatre.

"Tom," some one shouted after me. I continued my way unheeding.

"Oh Tom!" "Wait a minute!" implored Jim.

I did not answer. If I had I might have said something that I should have regretted exceedingly later.

Some one was coming down the aisle after me. I quickened my pace determined to listen to no pleadings. Maryella had chosen to bring personalities into it, and I would not stand for it, that was all.

I reached the main entrance of the theatre and stepped through a door into the brilliantly lit lobby. A man who was buying tickets at the box office looked up and with a yell ran out into the street, leaving his change behind on the shelf.

Some one opened the door I had just closed behind me. I did not look

"Please, Mr. Hemmingway," pleaded Maryella. "You can't make Helen withdraw now. It will break up the show."

"If she doesn't it will break up the Hemmingway family," he declared firmly.

"Is Mr. Hemmingway here?" inquired a voice from the rear of the auditorium. It was the boy from the box-office.

"Yes," replied John. "What is it?"

"You're wanted on the telephone."

Hemmingway left us, a dejected group.

"What can we do?" wailed Maryella disconsolately. "What will the old soldiers do?"

"Don't worry," Mrs. Hemmingway said. "I'll manage him some way. I'll fix the costume up so that he will approve all right."

She sighed with regret at the idea. Hemmingway returned.

"Get dressed, Tom," he said to me. "We've got to go over to the office."

"What happened?" I asked.

"There has been a jail-delivery at the penitentiary, and twenty prisoners have escaped. It's a big story, and we'll have to have you handle it."

A chorus of protests went up at the idea of my leaving the rehearsal. I was just peeved enough so that it did not make any difference to me. They had made fun of me, and now that I had a good excuse for withdrawing they could see how they could get along without me.

The idea of taking the long, cold trip out to the penitentiary did not appeal to me in itself, but I was glad to be able to leave the theatre.

Hemmingway had gone after telling his wife that he would send a taxi around.

"Tom!"

"It was Jim Cooper's voice."

"Well?"

"I thought you might want these if you are going over to the office."

He thrust something into my hands and then hastened back into the theatre.

It was my trousers.

CHAPTER III.

Watch for the big surprise!

The penitentiary is one of the things that places our city on the map. Therefore any happening of importance out there dominates the local news and figures largely also in the Associated Press dispatches.

The prison authorities had been having considerable trouble because of a number of men among the prisoners who were agitating for an eight-hour day, and some new fox-trot records for the phonograph, or something like that. The warden had not granted their demands, so this jail-delivery practically amounted to a strike. The men who escaped left word that they would not come back until their demands were acceded to.

Of course it was really a lot more serious than that, but I wrote it up in that fashion for the Daily Mail. Not that I felt particularly facetious—for from it; but that is my newspaper style. The public and my employers expect it of me.

What really occupied my mind was the unpleasant recollection of my departure from the Sheridan Dramatic Club and simultaneously from the good graces of one Maryella, eminently desirable spinster. I also had room in my consciousness for an uneasy speculation as to whether or not I that I was flirting with his wife.

Could get another job, of course, but my berth on the Daily Mail and its allied syndicate was very pleasant and lucrative.

They had to hold the presses for me on the city edition until I returned from the "pen," so that it was after two when I finally left the office to get supper at an all-night lunch-counter. I turned in about three, but didn't get to sleep for an hour or so after that.

It seemed as if I had barely dozed off when my telephone rang. I got up and answered it.

"Hello," I growled.

"Hello, Tom. This is Jim Cooper talking."

I muttered something under my breath.

"Don't swear," he observed pleasantly. "You ought to be glad I woke you up."

"Glad?" I repeated, incredulously. "What have I got to be glad about?"

"Because Maryella wants to talk to you, for one thing. She asked me to tell you to come over to her house as soon as possible. You see, it is all for the best."

"Go to the deuce," I advised crossly.

"I should be glad to," he was answering in an ungruff tone as I hung up the receiver.

I went back to my nice warm bed, but sleep was effectually routed for the day. My curiosity was aroused.

What did Maryella want? Probably something wherein I would be the nickel-plated goat. I was suspicious.

Still, it was nice of her to make the first move toward reconciliation. In the past that had always been my part. Maybe she knew she was in the wrong and wanted to apologize.

There was only one way to find out. I got up and dressed.

After breakfast I walked to Maryella's house. The job was quite cold and a light snow was falling. We had had cold weather before, and there was a couple of inches of ice on the river, but this was our first snow-storm.

Mrs. Hemmingway was with Maryella. The huge living-room of the Waite home was lit with sewing materials, endless ruffles and basting threads. A cheerful fire was burning in the grate.

The two young women were on the floor cutting something out of white cloth. The atmosphere was too happy and industrious for me to preserve my grouchy in. I almost regret to say that I thawed at once.

"We're making pads," Maryella explained after I was comfortably settled.

"For me?" I asked suspiciously.

"For everybody who needs them."

Maryella added hastily, interpreting the hostility in my tone. "For you, for Mr. Cooper and for Mrs. Hemmingway."

"For Mrs. Hemmingway?" I repeated incredulously. "I don't see what she needs of—"

Maryella interrupted me before I could finish.

"Mrs. Hemmingway, who is speechless with modest blushes, wishes me to thank you on behalf of herself and her Creator. As a matter of fact we are not making any pads for her. Quite the reverse, in fact."

"But we are building some for you and Jim."

"You should see the fine large chest we have washed on our husky Greek warrior; and as far as you are concerned—Well, all I can say is that we used Mr. Hemmingway for a pattern. But that is not what I asked you to come over and talk about."

"No?" with a polite inflection from me.

"No. Did you ever read a story entitled 'Dollyanna'?"

EXAMINE FRUIT*Federal Quarantine Body
Reports Danger of Spreading Pest in Florida Fruit.Buyers of oranges, grapefruit as well as all fruit dealers and restaurants are being urged by the State Plant Board to examine carefully all such fruit for small white maggots of the Mediterranean Fruit Fly, recently discovered in Florida. As soon as the presence of the pest was known hundreds of tons of these fruits were shipped out of Florida by truck and train to avoid being quarantined. The U. S. Department of Agriculture says there is considerable danger that some of this fruit may have been infested with this serious pest, and if not discovered, may spread infestation to other states.Inspectors of the State Plant Board in all sections of Mississippi are giving special attention to this danger and making examinations of fruit at as many places as possible. Soft frits on the fruit, or tiny pinholes with juice exuding, are indications of the presence of the maggots on the inside. All the citizens of the State are urged to help in this work, and if oranges or grapefruit are found to contain worms of any kind, they should be tightly wrapped and mailed at once to the State Plant Board at

ALL NEGRO CAST TO APPEAR IN HEARTS IN DIXIE*A. & G. Theatre Will Present Story of Negro Life in All Talkie Wednesday and ThursdayFew pictures have come to the A.
& G. Theatre as unusual and as superbly entertaining as "Hearts in Dixie" which will show Wednesday and Thursday. This Fox Movietone production of life and laughter in the old South is the first singing, dancing and dialog comedy of its kind having a cast of 200 native entertainers and reproducing with uncanny realism life along the levees and in the cotton fields. All actors except the white doctor are negroes.Generously interspersed with negro spirituals, folk dances and high comedy the story opens somewhere in plantation and with Nappus, an Old negro, speculating on the superstition and ignorance which is the burden of his race. His daughter Chloe and her baby are stricken with swamp fever and a hoodoo woman is summoned to cure them with her charms and incantations. Pappus eventually defies tradition by summoning a white doctor and learns that Chloe and her child have been dead for some time. This decides Nappus to send his young son, Chiniquapin, north for an education.With the exception of the hoodoo woman's chants (one of the most interesting and amazing sequences in the picture) and the parting of old Nappus and his son—the picture captures all the laughing and happy-go-lucky sweep of the singing South.
The wedding scene in which hundreds of folk come from miles around bringing their own plantation orchestra to honor the bride and the festivities, singing, dancing solos, quartettes, ensembles, etc., which follow is one of the thrilling high spots of the picture. The levee scene is also worthy of special note with the arrival of the "Nellie Bly" the tooting of whistles; the bustle of wharf activities; the singing of the roustabouts as Nappus bids goodbye to his son. The Billwre chorus of 60 resonant voices are heard from the screen rendering spirituals and folk songs that audiences will listen to with their hearts in their ears.Among the numbers rendered during the course of the production are
"Hallelujah to de Lamb," "Shine
On," "Ring de Banjo," "Peter, Go Ring de Bells," "Oh, Dem Golden Slippers," "Come Along Little Children," "I Couldn't Hear Nobody Praying," "Deep River," "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Steal Away" and "Lonesome Road."The picture was directed by Paul Sloane from the story and dialog by Walter Weems and its cast represents the finest native talent in the country.NOTICE TO BIDDERSSealed bids will be received by the Board

GUIDEPOSTS TO Health and Happiness By Bernarr Macfadden

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS THROUGH SELF-CONTROL

In a certain prison there is a young man serving a life sentence. He had been in love with a beautiful girl who was dearer to him than life itself. And because he loved her, he trusted her. His joy knew no bounds. He pictured to himself the glorious married life they would have together. He showered on her every luxury that his salary would permit. And then he found out that she was selling his attentions to another man. He did not cut her out of his heart as he would have cut out a festering thorn from his hand? Did he say: "good riddance," and thank his lucky stars that he found out that manner of woman she was before marriage instead of after?

He did not. He completely lost control of himself, and his actions were those of an animal who acts by blind instinct instead of reason. He stayed away from his job and lost it. He consorted with loose women. He filled his body with poisonous liquor. And finally, in a fit of rage, he went to the girl's house. Carried away by his hate and jealousy, he gripped her by the throat and choked the life out of her body.

Of course he was caught, tried and sentenced to life imprisonment. And there he sits—at an age when most men are starting out on the great adventure of life—waiting for death. He has lost both the girl and his freedom, to say nothing of his self-respect and the respect of his friends. And all because he could not control his passions!

The greatest of all human gifts might be termed self-control. To control others is difficult, but to control one's self is the first necessity of life. When your brain is seething with a white heat—when the mental reins tighten—when the mental with one sweep, destroy the work of a lifetime. It brings back what it gives out—fiery hatred, resentment, ingratitude, disloyalty. There follows in its wake any number of physical ailments—bad circulation, indigestion, skin diseases. Its possibilities for evil are unlimited.

So if you have a bad temper, learn to control it along with the other destructive passions that bring their share of pain and punishment. Be your own master. Dominate every phase of your life with intelligent control. And while others about you are losing their heads and making fools of themselves, you will be riding on the crest of the wave. People will admire you and believe in you and business success and personal happiness are bound to come your way.

Don't wait. Begin now—while you are young.

DAFFAN—HUDSON

Miss Lessie Mae Hudson and Alvin Martin Daffan of Gulfport were married Monday afternoon at the office of E. J. Gex, Justice of the Peace. Frank Gutierrez officiating.

BEGIN WORK ON CONCRETE STREET

Work has begun on the two concrete streets which are to be laid from Main to Court street east and west of the court house. The streets to either side of the court house are to be 24 feet in width with five foot sidewalks at each side of each street. They are to be of concrete. C. L. Skatvold, county engineer, has made all plans and specifications for the work which is being done by day labor, with the convict road crews doing the most of the work.

FELT BAD AFTER EATING

"Four years ago, I suffered with heart burn and bilious indigestion. Whatever I ate disagreed with me. Gas on my stomach made me very uncomfortable. My tongue was coated and my color was bad. I needed a good laxative, and so my mother-in-law gave me some Black-Draught and told me to take it. I found it helped me very much, so I bought it for myself. Seems it was the very thing I needed. It is a fine family remedy, and I use it when I need something for constipation."

"I also give Black-Draught to my children whenever they need something for colds or upset stomachs. Use Black-Draught."—Mrs. G. C. Leary, 103 North Main Ave., Durham, N. C.

Black-Draught for Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness. Women who need a mild laxative should take Black-Draught. Used over 11 years.

OTHER OBSERVANCES OF BETTER HOME WEEK IN BAY AND HANCOCK CO.

Each Day's Program Was Featured with Interesting Phases of Homes—Two County Demonstrations are Held—Each Unique and Valuable.

In last week's issue of the Echo the programs given Monday and Wednesday of the Better Homes Week demonstrations were discussed. Each day of the week interesting programs were held at the E. J. Gex home and during the week hundreds of people visited the Gex home and the home of Miss Mayme O'Dom, the two demonstration houses in Bay St. Louis.

Two communities, Flat Top and Leetown, held demonstrations.

Tuesday's Program
The home science department of the Kiln Vocational High School was in charge of Tuesday's program and under the capable direction of Mrs. Norton Haas caused this day and its demonstrations to stand out as a feature of the many fine things done during the week. Mrs. Haas and a group of girls from her classes arrived at the two houses in the morning and served as hostesses throughout the day.

At 12:30 the orchestra from Kiln school under the direction of Miss Elsie Halfacre, came to the demonstration home and rendered a delightful hour's musical program interspersed with readings and choruses. Prof. S. P. Powell, superintendent of the Kiln school, joined the party at noon, voicing his interest in the valuable work of the Better Homes movement and showing his cooperation in the county demonstration.

Beginning at 3:30 o'clock a series of demonstrations in food were given by the class with Mrs. Haas, directing. Too much cannot be said of the efficient manner in which she handled the demonstrations and the excellent training shown by the girls in their work.

Mrs. Haas explained the purpose of each demonstration and introduced the girls who gave the following demonstrations: Sarah Danbridge, hour rolls; Adelle Lett, Waldorf salad; Grace Wolf, stuffed tomatoes; Esther Haas, tomato salad; Mildred Depree and Mary Evelyn Anderson, mayonnaise. As each food named above was demonstrated servings were passed to the large number of ladies who had assembled in the perfectly appointed and electrically outfitted kitchen and breakfast room of the Gex home.

The table in the breakfast room was laid for breakfast and the table in the dining room was laid for dinner, correct table service thus being shown.

Mrs. Haas gave a lecture on vegetable cookery. She is a nutrition expert and her talk was of great value. The program for the afternoon was closed by Grace Wolf reading, Swan Song, the number she had given at the regional speaking contest in Biloxi recently.

Thursday's Program

The home science department of Central School, Bay St. Louis, under the direction of Miss Mary Florida Cossar, had charge of the homes Thursday. The group of girls from these classes specialized on hostess work, each serving in the capacity of entertaining hostess to those who called at the homes during the day. Conversation and music were demonstrated in their place as part of the hostesses' equipment for greeting and entertaining guests.

In the afternoon Miss Cossar gave an unusually fine talk on interior decoration, stressing the various phases of making the home beautiful, harmonious and a happier place in which to live and work. She emphasized the correct treatment of draperies at the windows and art in the home, discussing arrangement of furniture for space, light and comfort.

Friday's Program

Friday was St. Joseph's Academy Day at the homes and under the direction of Mother Claire, superior of the Academy, and Miss Lottie Cuneo, the latter taking the place of Mrs. E. J. Lacoste who was ill, all who entered the doors were greeted and made to feel at home.

In the afternoon an enjoyable program was given. Three girls from the school gave readings; Ida Mae Allingham, reading, Edgar A. Guest's Home; Agnes Bixby giving Bertha's Masterpiece; Alma Lejeune presenting, Milking Time.

J. M. Sherman of Pass Christian, enthusiastic gardener and landscapist was the speaker of the afternoon, discussing flowers and the joy they bring as they flourish in the garden. He proposed that each should have a Memory Garden, in which should be planted only those plants which were presented to one from friends. This Memory Garden would also be a love garden because only friends who love one give them plants.

He emphasized the love of native American plants and urged a greater appreciation of natural flora and a more extensive planting of it in the home gardens. It is of interest to know that Mr. Sherman graduated at St. Stanislaus College 58 years ago and his memories of his school days and school friends was enjoyed by the present.

Saturday and Sunday
Saturday and Sunday afternoons the homes were open for visitors and the women of the county council of the home demonstration clubs were hostesses.

Flat Top Observance

The home of W. F. Swan of Flat Top was used by the home demonstration house and was open Wednesday. This home has been built from old lumber and a charming bungalow has been created. Much of the furnishing of the house has been done by rehabilitating old furniture and the effect achieved was excellent.

The afternoon program included a number of cooking demonstrations given by the various women. Mrs. Felton Whitfield, one of the outstanding gardeners of the county, gave a fine talk on the all year round garden.

Dr. C. M. Shipp, county health officer, talked on Health and the good home. Miss Mayme O'Dom county home demonstration agent discussed the growth of the community and complimented it on taking part in the national Better Homes Week observance and stressed yard beautification. Frank B. Pittman, county farm agent, discussed the vegetable garden and its place in the better home.

Literature relating to better homes was distributed. The hostesses served tempting refreshments of lemonade and cake.

Leetown's Work

Leetown community is to hold its Better Home Week demonstration Sunday, May 5 and Sunday, May 12. The demonstration May 5 will be at the Leetown playground and park which is completed except for the pavilion and which is a beauty spot of the county with its many enticing spots including playground for the children, benches for resting and fireplaces for picnics.

The program there will include a talk by H. L. Harris of Piquette, a talk by a landscape gardener from the Coast, and a talk by C. A. Scott of the Pearl River Nurseries of Carriere. After the talks everyone will visit Otto Rester's residence which is nearby and inspect the yard which has recently been landscaped.

May 12 Better Homes will be observed by a visit in the afternoon, 3 o'clock, to Johnnie Rester's home which has been remodelled and repainted and is now one of the show houses of the community.

Miss Mayme O'Dom as county chairman for Better Homes Week is to be congratulated upon the success of the observances and demonstrations. The cooperation of the various organizations in making these demonstrations a success speaks highly for all concerned and community interest in the home.

Waveland is a town of many charms and attractions. Of these, besides her people, are none the less the many beautiful homes and exquisite gardens. Someone has said, the Gulf Coast at this beautiful spring time, must have been the scene of Paradise. Of gardens just now none is more vibrant with color and abundant with many flowers than that of Mrs. D. Dangimont, where there is seemingly no limit to variety. Nothing seems to have been omitted here. Mrs. Dangimont does her own garden work and much of the secret of her success, is due to her love for flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Dolphes Lewis of Biloxi announce the birth early Sunday morning of a fine son who was born at the home of the mother's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Tudury of Bay St. Louis. Mrs. Lewis is the former Miss Imelda Tudury.

Mr. August Schiro, well-known proprietor of the Boston Shoe Store, has returned from a three-weeks treatment at a New Orleans hospital, and is again ill at his home in Main street. We regret to note the continued illness of this well-known citizen.

Mrs. Grace is one of the most gracious hostesses of the summer colony and her home the scene of frequent entertainment.

The death of Miss Julia Gaspard, at her home in New Orleans is noted, which occurred during the early part of the week, following a stroke. Miss Gaspard is survived by one sister, Marie, and three brothers, Sam, Louis and Sidney. Bay St. Louis Rotarians will be host to Pass Christian Rotarians on Wednesday noon next at the Weston Hotel, this city. This will be a bi-city meeting and a return of a similar event held in Pass Christian last year. No set program has been adopted, but sufficient to say, Wednesday's luncheon will be one of spice and pep not to be forgotten. Just as we are wont to go to Pass Christian, the fellows from that delightful spot, are as fond of crossing the bay hither. The hope is expressed they will be represented 100 per cent.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Grace and family of New Orleans have arrived on the coast for the summer and are at their pleasant Waveland home. Mrs. Grace has not been well but is now considerably improved and able to be out, though not fully recovered.

Peonies in color and size are features of Mrs. Louis J. Norman's garden, in Carroll Avenue. These beautiful and rare flowers are not many this far South, but Mrs. Norman year after year meets with unusual success in their cultivation. The original plants were sent Mrs. Norman by her brother in Baltimore, Md., some years since, and how well she has succeeded in their cultivation is best witnessed by those privileged to enjoy the gorgeousness of the blossoms and the exquisite charm of fragrance.

Perhaps habit has made you used to a bed-spring that sags or one that is too stiff. But strained sleeping positions are unavoidable on such a bed-spring. No wonder you awake so often with that tired, unrested feeling.

You know how stiff and uncomfortable you feel after dozing in a chair. That is because your body is not supported properly. Your spine is bent, your nerves and muscles strained and your vital organs cramped.

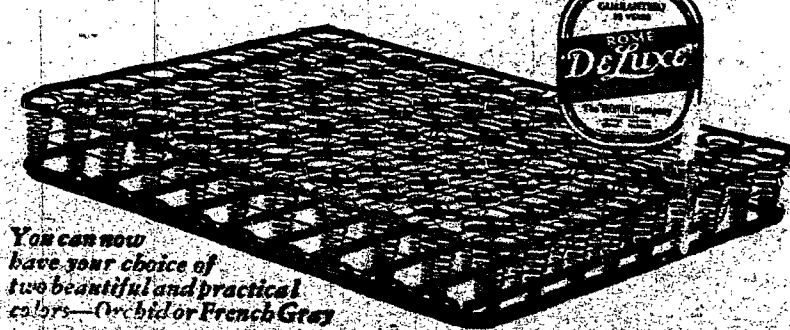

Only a bedspring that supports your body naturally can give refreshing sleep

When you sleep on a Rome DeLuxe bedspring the spine is straight and natural; the body is fully relaxed

UNLESS you are one of the many thousands who already enjoy the comfort of a Rome DeLuxe Bedspring, there is a new treat in store for you.

Every single coil of the moves with absolute dependently of giving you more refreshing ther type bedspring in the world! Don't let habit cheat you of this natural, healthful sleep any longer.

ATTENTION, HOMESEEEKERS AND INVESTORS.

This great opportunity is first revealed to Hancock County and Bay St. Louis folks. Right here, in this city, at 516 Citizen St., in classic block of that pretty street, is a property equally attractive as a home or an investment, consisting of a nice English bungalow on beautiful, well-drained lot 174 feet in width by 274 feet in depth, with fifteen bearing pecan trees, double garage and other outbuildings, driveway-house, substantially built, brick foundations, with good roof, number nice rooms, including bath, sleeping porch, modern conveniences, city water, etc.—plenty room for garden and poultry yard, in excellent neighborhood—which can be bought at a real bargain. Property must be seen to be properly appreciated; so drive down and take a good look at it for yourselves. Two years ago, one of our banks made loan of $4700.00 on it, and the house alone is insured for $3,000.00. Conservative estimate places value of this property at $6000.00 to $7,000.00; but it can be bought now at much lower price for cash—you'd hardly believe how low.

Why not grasp this opportunity to buy a lovely Bay St. Louis home for your family, or make a most satisfactory investment in valuable "Bay" real estate? Better HURRY, place may sell any day, and your chance be gone.

FOR RENT—One Double House 3 rooms and 1 bath 1 side. Large yard and garage. Railroad Ave. Price $15.00. Bourdin Store.

NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK MAY 5 THROUGH 11

featured the presentation of American music, which will again be featured in the observance of May 5-11 next. In other words, this yearly accentuation of a single phase of the entire movement does not mean that these are transitory interests, each of which is to be discarded the next year for a new one. On the contrary, they remain among the fixed purposes of the movement and by the strength which they have acquired through concentration upon them in turn during the special week, they serve to consolidate the permanent influence of the movement.

"Hear Music, Make Music, Enjoy Music," is a complete circle of participation, and we believe that by focussing the attention of the public this year upon that circle the cause of music will be immediately advanced.
